

Subject: Certified Pro Tools 101 training

Dear

Southampton Solent University is now a Digidesign Sponsored School and can provide certified training for Pro Tools 101. The process is in place to become accredited at level 110 later this year. Joe Bloggs has passed your email address on to me with a view that your college/music tutors may benefit from this training.

We would like to offer you/your music tutors the opportunity to gain a recognised qualification in this field, and to keep current with the ever changing music industry.

The features of our Pro Tools 101 Course:

- 2 days (9am-5pm)
- Taught in modern/up-to-date music labs with Macs and up-to-date Pro Tools software
- Tea/ coffee provided
- Includes course text book (to keep)
- 1 exam
- 1 re-take of exam if needed
- Industry recognised certificate provided

DATES: Thursday 2nd and Friday 3rd April 2009

VENUE: Southampton Solent University (East Park Terrace Campus)

PRICE: The usual price is £350 for this 2 day course, but we can offer this to partner colleges at a hugely reduced rate of £124.

We would advise you to bring a packed lunch, as on-site catering facilities will not be open due to it being the first week of the Easter Break.

For more information on the Pro Tools courses please go to,

<http://www.digidesign.com/training>

If you know of any other colleagues who would benefit or be interested in partaking in this course please inform me of their names and I will contact them/ send them an invitation.

Please complete and return the attached invitation if you would like to attend the course. Places are limited, so book early, but by Friday 27th February at the latest. If I can answer any more questions please don't hesitate to get in touch.

Kind regards,

Joe Bloggs

Project Assistant

Telephone: 09876 543210